all his life. He had been a constable seven or eight years.

On election marning he was at the Towa Hall, and his duty was to keep the voter in inc. He had orders to allow no one to come within 150 feet of the polls.

When the carriage of Col. Bacon's party came up the witness sail he had no idea who the people were, but he stopped the carriage and told the driver that he could not pass the line.

A man sitting on the box with the driver told the latter to go ahead, and when the Constable took the horses by the bride this man flung a heavy cane at him. The cane was put in evidence at him. The cane at one of the previous trials.

"A tail man got out of the carriage Station Last Night.

"What happened then?" Mr. Patterson asked.
"A tail man got out of the carriage and came towards me with his hand in his pocket and something sticking out that looked like a pistol.
"I ran up against him, and felt something like a revolver.
"What have you got there?" I said "A revolver, he said. You'd better look out; it's a self-cocker and loaded.
"I pulled his hand out of his pocket, and the revolver came with it.
"Look out, the said, it may go off.
"Well, if it does, says f. it won't remains the shoot me," and with that I turned his an individual example, but one of a shoot me," and with that I turned his an individual example, but one of a shoot me," and with that I turned his an individual example, but one of a shoot me," and with that I turned his an individual example, but one of a wholesale lot.

"It was taken away from him, and i save it to Justice Newton.

The witness said that when he went to Justice Newton's court with the four prisoners the latter gave four papers to him, which he ordered him to sign. He did not read them he said, because he could not read writing at all, but supposed they contained charges of carrying concealed weapons and assaulting him with the cane.

Ludlow Street Jail, as stated at length in the morning papers.

Central Office detectives have been scouring this city and Far Rockaway, where he lived, all night, and to-day up to noon, but in vain, for Mr. Jones is evidently in Boston, from where he wired to Col. T. C. Campbell, President of the collection agency, at 12 o'clock to-day, saying he would endeavor to make goost the amount of his detaleation.

The whole affair, according to Mr. Campbell, is a comedy of errors, and the "Dromio of Syracuse" is a reporter of a morning paper.

For some time Will H. Stevens, the treasurer of the agency, has been quietly carrying on an investigation into the complaints of subscribers, whose claims left for collection had been paid by debtors, but whose money had never been accounted for.

"You would just as soon have signed more if more had been handed you. I suppose."

An iron-clud rule of the "L" road is that all articles found on the train must be taken to the end of the road. A keg of powder under this rule would have to be more if more had been handed you. I suppose?"
"Yes—that is, no; I don't think I taken either to One Hundred and Fifty—would."

Jamleson couldn't tell to whom he had handed the prisoners he arrested.

Hishop, conforming to this regulation picked up the bomb, put it into his picked, got on the front end of his car at Fifty-hird street and Eighth avenue, rode to the end of the road and then

Cox.

Cox, after puzzling over it for a while, sent it up to the Thirty-second Precinct Police Station, at one Hundred and Fifty-second street and Amsterlam avenue. It got there about 12.20 this morning. At 12.45 Police Headquarters was notified of the find.

The bomb was given a room all by itself in the rear of the station on a pillow and the door tocked.

Inspector Conlin took charge of the case, and was at the One Hundred and Fifty-second street police station early Charged by a Collecting Agency with Forgery and Embezziement.

Milton L. Jones, for years manager and confidential clerk of Snow, Church & Co.'s collection agency. 25 Broadway and now charged with forgery and with having embezzied over $7,500, is not in Ludlow Street Jail, as stated at length in the morning papers.

It is purely vegetable and harmless, Dr. Greene, its discoverse, is the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic dissection in the poissession of the police. The bomb is made of cast, not, as usually, of wrought iron. It is five inches in length, oblong in shape and three inches in diameter at its greatest circumference, at the can be consulted at his office, 25 west 14th street, New York City, free, personally sealed.

At the opposite end a similar-sized hole perforates the bomb horizontally for two inches; a soft leaden tap is served into the mouth of the hole.

and Standard Oil interests have joined forces to invade the Gould territory in the West and Southwest.

According to the story, the Vanderbilts have been purchasing Atchison stock of late, with the view of getting control of that property extending the line to San Francisco and replacing the Pullman cars with those of Wagner make. It was also alleged that Vanderbilt and Standard Oil representatives would have a conference in St. Louis to-day.

Mr. Depew said the rumors were concocted in Wall street.
